How to get there

Detailed information, including a pop up map are provided on the Quaker Council's webpage at <http://www.quaker.org/qcea/quakerhouse.htm>.

- From Schuman metro station: This is the nearest metro station to Quaker House. Leave the metro station by the R.P.Schuman exit and you will find yourself next to a large roundabout. Off the roundabout on the left take Rue Archimede and walk down it until you arrive at a park. This park is Square Ambiorix. Turn left and walk around it until you get to number 50, Quaker House.
- From Brussels Zaventem Airport: Take bus number 12 from the airport and get off at Schuman. Then follow the directions above.
Alternatively take the Airport - City Express train. Turn left once you have left the customs area and go down the stairs/escalator to the train station. There are trains approximately every 20 minutes. A single ticket should cost about €2.50. Get off the train at Centrale/Centraal. Then follow the instructions below.
- From Gare Centrale/Centraal Station: Take bus number 63 from outside the station - leave the station by ascending stairs with escalators on both sides (there are two sets of stairs so this is important). You will not go through the ticket hall. The bus stop is directly outside the exit. Press a button to request a stop after leaving Gutenberg (there is a screen with the name of stops just behind the driver). Get off the bus at the next stop called Palmerston which is on Square Ambiorix. Walk back to the corner the bus just came round. Quaker House (number 50) is on the corner of Square Ambiorix and Rue des Eburons.
Alternatively, to take the metro follow the blue and white "M" signs in the station. Take the metro in the direction Hermann-Debroux or Stockel/Stokkel and get off at Schuman. Then follow the directions above.
- From Brussels Charleroi Airport: Take the RyanAir bus from the airport to Brussels. The bus will set you down at Gare du Midi/Zuidstation. Then follow directions as above.
